About the Great American Egg

Located in Powell Butte, Oregon, the Great American Egg is a pastured-based farm that focuses on allowing animals to fully express themselves. This means that chickens chase grasshoppers and scratch for worms. Pigs dig deep to find cool soil in the summer. Broilers can move freely without wallowing in yesterdays waste.

Great American Egg is the only licensed poultry processing farm East of the Cascade mountains. That means the birds never have to travel and are cared for and processed by the same expert hands.
